

BANNER

TEXAS WHEAT WHISKEY MADE MILL-TO-STILL

This is the first fully produced Texas wheat whiskey handcrafted with all Texas sourced ingredients. Micro-batch distilled and aged—only a few barrels are produced each week. Our recipe is simple with 95% Winter wheat from local farmland, 5% Texas malted barley, and harvested Texas rainwater used for proofing. From mill-to-still, we carefully grind, mash, ferment, distill, barrel age, proof, and bottle our whiskey at the Banner distillery. Never chill filtered, this wheat whiskey carries a flavor that's spicy, sweet, and uniquely true to Texas.

Tasting Notes

Toasted cherry and black pepper

Exceptional depth and balance for a young whiskey

- Aromas and flavors are indicative of whole grain breads, dried fruits, and pepper spices
- The palate is very soft and the finish is long and flavorful.

Distiller.com commented:

"There's a strong aroma of maraschino cherries (the supermarket kind) as well as some caramelized sugar and cinnamon. The palate is downright zesty with strong and aggressive spices along with some candied sweetness. The heat is tame and takes a backseat to the spicy wheat. The overall lightness on the palate is what ties the whole thing together. If it was heavy and clumsy (which it is not), the spices would be overbearing. The finish is long and full of more smoky cherry and spice."

Micro-Batch Process

- Fully handmade in small 130gal batches
- Sustainably distilled twice in stainless hybrid pot stills
- Barrel aged in new charred American white oak
- Gently proofed with Texas rainwater
